SURROUNDED

On Christmas Day, one of my childhood Sunday School Teachers died. I was raised knowing and believing in a church, and at a young age, already, I kind of looked up to those teachers, those who believed enough to teach the Christian faith. There was Alma, Doris Mae, Ron, Pat and Mable. And then there was Marion. Marion played organ in worship and then taught Sunday School after. She believed, and I knew it.

I know I made light of faith as I was growing up. Church was not my favorite place to be. I am serious. I offered all kinds of resistance to my Mom, especially. Faith was one of my lesser priorities. But my parents insisted that church was part of growing up. We didn't pray often at home, but I never heard swearing or bad language. I was made to understand that worship was important. And I noticed those Sunday School teachers.

The easiest of all worlds, someone wrote, is to say 'no' to God. When a person says, 'no,' nothing more is expected. If we don't believe, we don't need anything proven to us. We don't need to wrestle with doubt. We don't have to listen to a sermon that fell flat. We don't have to be troubled by the evils of this world. We don't have to think deeper than the evening news.

I can recall when first I said of my own choosing, "I love you, God." Do you remember the first time you said those words? Was it when the world's evil became bigger than you ever imagined? Was it when the miracle of human life made the Big Bang theory sound ridiculous? Was it when you suffered the death of a grandparent, and hoping against hope you just knew there must be God? Or was it when that still, small voice whispered?

Marion died on Christmas; she thought that would be perfect day to be united with Christ. Her family showed me her Bible, it was wonderfully tattered. They told me of her generosity, she loved to give. And she had symbols of faith throughout her apartment--the Lord's Supper, the Ten Commandments, praying hands, the Lord's Prayer and more. Marion surrounded herself with reminders of her trust in Jesus Christ.

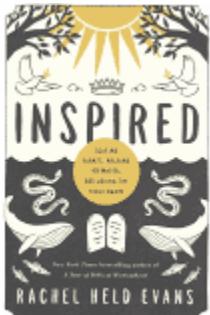

In Hebrews 11 gives us a definition of faith: "Now faith is the assurance of things hoped for, the conviction of things not seen." Another version reads, "faith is being sure of what we hope for, and certain of what we do not see." Then, we're told that 'a great cloud of witnesses' surrounds us. Believers are not isolated human beings. We have stories of Abraham and Isaac and Moses and Samson and Barak and David and Samuel. The list goes on.

Marion committed herself to Christ and the Church. With the passing of time, my contacts with her were limited to her Christmas letter; she always wrote about church. I am grateful years ago, that my parents insisted that this rambunctious young boy spend some time in her classroom.

TWO EDUCATIONAL EVENTS....

Back in mid-November, I asked the Monday morning study group, "What would you like to know more about?" After the briefest of pauses, one person responded: "How did the Bible come into being?" In response, we offer you two study opportunities. One, a book by Rachel Held Evans; and Two, two lectures/presentations by the Rev. Dr. Karl Kuhn from Lakeland University. We hope to see you at both of these events.....

INSPIRED: One Woman's Journey Back to Loving the Bible

If the Bible isn't a science book or an instruction manual, then what is it? What do people mean when they say the Bible is inspired? When Rachel Held Evans found himself asking these questions, she began a quest to better-understand what the Bible is and how it is meant to be read. What she discovered changed her----and it will change you too.

Drawing on the best in recent scholarship and using her well-honed literary expertise, Evans examines some of our favorite Bible stories and possible interpretations, retelling them through memoir, original poetry, short stories, soliloquies, and even a short screen play. Undaunted by the Bible's most difficult passages, Evans wrestles through the process of doubting, imagining, and debating Scripture's mysteries. The Bible, she discovers, is not a static work but is a living, breathing, captivating and confounding book that is able to equip us to join God's loving and redemptive work in the world.

First Adult Class Session: Monday, January 27 at 10:30 a.m. and 7:00 p.m. Cost of book: $13.

The BIBLE: Where did it Come From?

The Rev. Dr. Karl Kuhn

Many Christians have the implicit sense that the Bible is inspired by God, and we often refer to these writings as the "Word of God." But it is also the case that individual believers and communities of faith played integral roles in gathering, speaking, writing down, editing, compiling, and preserving the traditions found in Scripture. This study explores what biblical scholars commonly identify as important landmarks and characteristic features in the creation of the Bible

NEWS FROM THE CABINET

At our January meeting, our Treasurer reported the church operating fund ended 2019 with a surplus of $6080. Thanks to everyone who responded to the appeal made by the Trustees in October, which brought in $9500 to help close the shortfall of $12,000 we were facing at the end of September. Thanks also to our members who fulfilled their pledge for 2019, which brought the total of pledged gifts just over budget by year's end. We also credit our staff, Treasurer and ministry leaders who worked hard to keep overall expenses below budget.

Our Financial Secretary reports there are 212 projected giving units for 2020, which is an increase from last year. She also wants everyone to notice there are offering envelopes for Christmas, Thanksgiving and Easter in your boxes or packets. These offerings are not counted toward your pledge, but any gifts go to support church operations(our budget).

The Diaconate has selected Josh Willis as its chairperson for 2020. Their February meeting will be an informal gathering for new and old members to get acquainted and learn about the various ministries of the Diaconate. The Diaconate will also monitor summer worship attendance for 2020 and 2019 to compare the single Sunday service to previous years when we had two Sunday services all summer.

The Board of Mission and Outreach reports that $2983 was received in the Advent offering for the What If? Foundation. The Christmas Fund offering received $1058 to help retired clergy in need. The Board also purchased clothing items for the two elementary schools in Two Rivers and toiletries and snacks for the middle and high schools to share with needy students. The Emmaus Home choir will visit our church May 15-18and host families will be needed for them.

Pastor Parish committees discussed upcoming church events and reported that Pastor Colie expects to graduate in May from her doctoral program at Lancaster Seminary.

Pastor Kim informed us that Kelsey Meyer was hired as the new cleaning person for the church. A clipboard in the flower room can be used to communicate concerns to her. He announced the Monday book study will resume on January 27, with an interruption February 10 and 17, when Dr. Karl Kuhn will lead a study on how the Bible was compiled. Pastor Kim plans to lead a tour of civil rights sites in Memphis and in Montgomery, Alabama from March 29 to April 3.

Two Rivers-Mishicot Ecumenical Pantry has asked each supporting church for a representative to a new advisory board, meant to assist with fund-raising and future planning. Anyone interested in serving should contact Don DeBruyn or Renee Anderson. There was an update on the pantry in the January church newsletter.

Earth Care Ministry announced that an ecumenical Manitowoc County Earth Care Team was born from people involved in organizing the two Earth Care festivals. Jim and Susie Miller are attending their meetings, which are open to all. Our own Sue Crowley, a professional forester, has surveyed the new property north of the church and is offering suggestions for improving the vegetation. While the church still needs to determine how we should use the land, the Earth Care Ministry felt that a portion of it should be reforested, as a way to capture carbon dioxide and mitigate climate warming. Solar electricity generation for the church has been researched and a proposal has been solicited. While final figures are being further refined, members of the Earth Care Ministry have pledged financial support.

Betty Becker announced that an adult mission trip is planned to Fayetteville, North Carolina the week of March 7-15 to repair and rebuild structures damaged in several hurricanes and tornados. The next planning session will be on February 3, 2020 at 5:00 pm for people interested in going.

Habitat for Humanity---$765

Campital Campaign (2019 contributions) $16,817

Christmas gifts for TREP

Christmas Gifts for Ascend

THOSE SECOND-MILE CONTRIBUTIONS.....

In the end of October, the Trustees informed you of an anticipated budget shortfall. We did not like the thought of ending the year in the red, so we explained our perception of the problem and our hope that some of you might be willing to respond with a second mile offering. We just received the year-end report, and we are pleased to report two things. First, $9,465 was contributed by individuals----most of which was in $100 increments. Second, we finished 2019 with just over $6,000 in the black. THANK YOU FOR CARING FOR YOUR CHURCH.

TIMING THE SERMON

The Pew Research Center analyzed nearly 50,000 sermons from about 6,500 congregations and determined that the median length of all sermons was 37 minutes. Catholic sermons were the shortest, with the median being 14 minutes. Sermons in mainline Protestant congregations came in at 25 minutes, compared to 39 minutes in evangelical Protestant churches. Sermons in historical black Protestant churches are the longest---the median length was 54 minutes. (Christian Century)

GENERATION G

Wednesday nights from 7-8pm in the High school youth room a dozen high school youth have been coming together studying the book of Mark. The youth ask deep questions learning to read things from the perspective of the time they were written instead of our person perspectives in this time in history. Our youth share their high's and lows from the week, as well as praying for so many who are on their hearts and minds. I am so thankful for their faith.

I am grateful for the weekly presence of Taylor Lechler, who provides an extra adult to keep things covered from a safe sanctuary stand point. I'm also appreciative of the support of not only Taylor but Keith and Cheryl Barneson, Cal MacAuley and Robert Herda who come along as adult chaperones/drivers for our trip to the Cloverton Concert at the Cup O Joy in Green Bay as well as our Christmas party. This group loves and serves our youth by coming alongside for so many events, helping build relationships from the church that help make faith stick.

Looking ahead we will be selling chocolates in Lent from Seroogy as well as hosting our annual Easter Breakfast. The money that gets raised helps send mail to our college and military personnel, reduces the cost of our youth going on retreats to Pilgrim Center, as well as covering other things for the High school youth group. Thank you to those who support our youth. If you have questions you can contact Nicole Herda at nlherda@yahoo.com or (920)553-6789, Thank you.

ASP INFORMATION

The Appalachia Service Project group (ASP group) is thankful for Grace Congregational UCC's abundant support. To those of you who purchased Christmas wreaths from us again this past year—thank you. Those orders are taken in, branches are cut, piles are made, handfuls of greens are crimped onto wreath forms, stacks of wreaths are piled high and stored until we have them all completed. Those wreaths are then brought back to the Juza garage where the individuals you order from hot glue the decorations on before taking a hand-made bow and attaching it to the wreath. Youth and adults are grateful when they have their wreaths all delivered to you, as well as having their money turned in as it wraps up our only fundraiser for the trip.

This year we currently have about 44 individuals who have committed to the trip June 20-27 to West Virginia where we will make homes warmer, safer and drier. The prayers you cover us with help keep us safe while the homemade cookies help keep us fueled as we work (and drive). In March and April there will be meeting notices appearing for the ASP group who committed in September to prepare them for the trip followed by a practice build opportunity they are expected to participate in May. We look forward to you all joining us for our ASP send off service before we head to the Appalachia Mountains. We are grateful for your constant support and faithful example.

Peace: Wade Juza, Keith Barneson and Nicole Herda
